

MRS. J. T. PERKINS ENDS HER LIFE IN GREENWICH HOME

New York Banker's Wife
Shoots Self After Sending Nurse From Room.

(Special to The Evening World.)
GREENWICH, Conn., May 6.—John T. Perkins, vice-president of the Corn Exchange Bank of New York, two sons and servants in the family were aroused shortly before 6 o'clock this morning by the report of a revolver shot in Mrs. Perkins' room. Mr. Perkins ran there, arriving just as Miss Catherine Gorman, a trained nurse, rushed into the room. Mrs. Perkins lay in bed, a wound in her right temple and a revolver clutched in her hand. She was dead.

Mrs. Perkins had been ill for several years and recently her condition became such that Dr. William Burke, who had been attending her, advised that a nurse be employed. Miss Gorman had been with Mrs. Perkins for about a week. Mrs. Perkins' trouble was a nervous ailment and at times she appeared to be in perfect health. Only last week she visited New York to have a specialist examine her eyes. This morning, according to the nurse, Mrs. Perkins asked her to go to another room on some small errand and as her patient seemed well and happy Miss Gorman left the room. An instant later she heard the report of the shot. Where Mrs. Perkins got the revolver, unless she bought it on her recent trip to New York, and how she managed to conceal it in her bed is a mystery.

Mrs. Perkins, who was about fifty years old, was noted for her charitable works. The family is prominent socially here. Mrs. Perkins was the mother of four sons, two of whom are away at college.

HERE'S THE REAL TINT FOR FASHION LINGERIE: IT'S PRIMROSE PINK!

"Tim," a Snapping Irish Terrier, Causes Women to Reveal Secret.

Announcement: The prevailing color of Parisian lingerie for the spring is primrose pink! Hosiery runs to bluish tints, and pumps and slippers have black bottoms with embroidered uppers.

How do we know? We wouldn't have known at all had it not been for P. A. Richardson and his Irish terrier, both of whom—or which—arrived on the Olympic to-day. Mr. Richardson didn't have much to do with the discovery, but his dog did. The terrier, called "Tim" after a well-known dog fancier, had just reached the Customs corral from the gang-plank when it all started.

A tall Englishman swinging a cane and trying desperately to keep his monocle from falling with the other hand passed close enough to "Tim" to step on his foot. "Tim" didn't wait for an apology—he went after the Englishman, snapping and snarling and barking and biting. The Englishman leaped to a trunk for safety.

But the throng of fashionably gowned women and the crowds on hand to greet arrivals were not so fortunate. The dog broke from his leash and set about to rout the whole army. In a moment a panic seized the pier. Women screamed, cried for help and two swooned. Strong men tried to kick the dog, but he eluded capture.

The ladies—bless them, of course—had all visited Parisian shops before embarking for America. This was quite apparent, for dozens of them climbed to trunks and boxes and places of refuge with more or less confusion and even on their feet they did what the feminine fugitive always does, although there was no mouse about. And what a display! Strong men faltered and stopped chasing the dog.

Then, in the midst of the highly colored scene, an ordinary dock man, one of those vulgar persons who has no sense of the beautiful, seized the poor dog by the hind legs, whirled him about in the air a couple of times and took him over to a water-tank kept for fire emergencies on the pier. With utter nonchalance the fellow raised the top of the tank and hurled the dog into the water, afterward closing the cover. When Richardson, the owner, rescued his dog the animal was practically drowned. At least, all the bitterness had been soaked out of him. Then the ladies let their skirts fall—and the crowd withered.

Amadeo Guequet Dies.
PARIS, May 6.—The noted Byantine historian, Amadeo Guequet, died yesterday. He was born at Clermont-Ferrand in 1855. After being professor at a number of colleges and academies he became a director at the Ministry of Public Instruction and also a member of the Council of Public Instruction. He was the author of books on literature, history and social subjects.

SWEPT OVER FALLS BY NIAGARA'S CURRENT

People See Man Helpless in Row-boat Carried Down to Death—Body Disappears.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., May 6.—An unidentified man in a row boat was swept over the Horse Shoe Falls to-day. The man was crossing the river between La Salle and Chippewa when one of his oars was broken on the drift ice, rendering him helpless in the strong current above the cataract.

No help could be rendered by spectators on the bank. The body has not been recovered.

MARLBOROUGH, AUCTIONEER.

LONDON, May 6.—Peers are numerous in various lines of business in Great Britain, but the Duke of Marlborough, who married Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York, entered an entirely new field at Oxford this afternoon when he appeared as a fully licensed auctioneer to dispose of the highest bidder of a number of lots of his Oxfordshire estate.

The novelty aroused a great degree of public interest, and the title of auctioneer worked up spirited bidding.

How You May Throw Away Your Glasses

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate ones these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once: Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optonol; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optonol tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may so strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind, or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of these victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.—Advt.

The Great May White Sale

continues; indeed, it gathers momentum, seemingly, with each succeeding day.

TO-DAY IS THE THIRD DAY of the greatest May White Sale New York has ever produced. We use the word greatest advisedly; that is, greatest in aggregate of virtues, such as VALUES, VARIETY, ORGANIZATION, CONVENIENCE, ECONOMIES, PROMPT SERVICE at time of selection, and PROMPT and CAREFUL DELIVERY.

As to volume of business, we have no means of knowing exactly the extent of the business transacted in White Sales contemporary with this one, or of others of the past, but by every fair means open to us by which we may judge we should say that probably no store in New York has ever equalled this sale in actual volume of business.

The merchandise announced here is barely a tithe of the special values in the sale. It will be to your interest to look very carefully over the entire Basement, First, Second and Third Floors for the splendid opportunities for economies in apparel and fabrics of all kinds for yourself and family.
